

IB Film Studies Summer Assignment

Welcome to IB Film! I look forward to meeting each of you and can't wait to begin our discussions and appreciation of film! Because the IB assessments for this class are due by April (there is no written exam in May), we must start the school year with a basic knowledge of film history and technology, and analysis. Below you will find the assignment that will give you a basic understanding and introduction to film history, film movements, and analysis.

The IB Film Studies Summer Assignment is in two parts.

Part 1: Film History and Technology

Watch each video assigned (16 in total) and take notes in a copy of this Google Doc. This will help you prepare for your first quarter assignments in this class. Attach and submit your completed chart to our class Canvas in the first two weeks of class. The due date for this assignment is August 24th.

Part 2: Film Analysis

Watch one film of your choosing and answer the analysis questions in a copy of this Google Doc. This will be good practice for more in-depth analysis as the course progresses.

The Crash Course series on Film Criticism may be helpful to you.

The due date for this assignment is August 17th.
